

CASE STUDY - MODIFIED AND CUSTOM PRODUCT

At right is the reception and teller station with some check write stands that Mobilia manufactured for a private community bank. Stone has been inlaid into the transaction counter of the reception station and the writing surface of the teller and check write stand. The unit was built to conform to the contour and set on top of a raised portion of the floor.

The Conference Table (bottom left) has the same stone inlay as the reception area with a power and communication pop up grommet cut into the stone. The personal bankers act as bank tellers, and the stone transaction surface was used on the desk surface as well.
